Why River Cruising?

Cruising isn't just about sailing over vast expanses of ocean – some of the best cruise experiences can be found in the winding waterways of Europe, Asia and the Middle East. Even if you're a cruising veteran, a smaller river cruise ship, barge or river boat will grant you a completely new and unique experience, and here is why:

See the World's Great Cities:

Paris, Vienna, Budapest, St. Petersburg.... So many cities and towns were developed along rivers, and on a river cruise ship you can arrive in the heart of your destination without even leaving the ship. You will often dock right in the heart of town, mere steps away from charming squares, beautiful cathedrals and vibrant market places.

New Scenery – All Day, Every Day:

Fairytales palaces, towering gorges, tiny villages... on a river cruise you will experience ever-changing scenery close up and at eye level. Your proximity to the shore means that colourful hillside villages, picturesque castles and ancient ruins are within view from all areas of your intimate ship.

A More Intimate Experience:

Smaller vessels mean fewer passengers, more attentive service and a more intimate cruise holiday. On a river cruise you never have to wait in long lines to get on or off the ship, you'll never have to tender into port and you'll never spend long hours wave watching on a vast ocean.

Fantastic Cuisine:

Dining on river cruises has come a very long way. Most river cruise lines now feature fresh, local produce and foods from the regions you are visiting, giving you yet another cultural experience to add to your river cruise tick list.

Travel with Ease

In your river-view stateroom, just unpack once and then relax in comfort as you cruise along the smooth river. No matter which cruise you choose, you can always go at your own pace. So, whether you choose to go on a group guided tour, or do it on your own – it's all at the pace of your liking. Easy!
